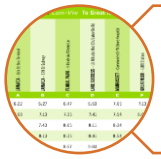
Safety first. Practice your trip with somebody you know.



learn to read your bus/train shedule or metro map.

Always carry your phone, if you have one, and make sure it is sufficiently charged. Program frequently called numbers.

Don't try to touch the bus as it is driving by.

Greet the driver when you get on or leave the bus and pay with correct change.

Remain seated and talk quietly to others. Don't stick your hands out of the windows and don't touch emergency exits when not needed.

Check the traffic flow when you get off the bus.

If you get lost, go to a uniformed transit employee.

If you are lost, hurt or scared, you can stop a bus or other vehicle. It doesn't cost you money.
